—Bucks county wool hat factories are thriving.

—There are 600 lodges of Odd Fellows in Pennsylvania.

—The Phoenixville copper works are to be rebuilt this summer.

—Pennsylvania has 3,618 postoffices; the greatest number in any one State.

—The Irish people of Wilkesbarre are raising a fund to erect an orphan asylum.

—We fear the Intelligencer is getting out of order, as an organ, for in its last issue it does not strike a single key-note. This should not be.

—The Society of the Cincinnati in Pennsylvania has now in its possession a fund of $130,000, which is to be applied to the erection of a monument to Washington in Philadelphia. Several artists are preparing designs. The collection of this fund was begun in 1810.

—Papers by which the North Pennsylvania and the Bound Brook Railroads were leased to the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company for a term of 90 years were signed yesterday. The terms of the lease are briefly as follows: It dates from the 1st of May instant, and binds the Reading Railroad Company to pay the interest on the bonds and assume all the liabilities of both companies, except the floating debts, which are to be carried at 6 per cent by the companies until converted into either stocks or bonds, not to below par, with a not dividend to both companies of 6 per cent for the first two years, 7 per cent for the next two years, and 8 per cent for the balance of the term, five of all taxes, and payable quarterly, with a fixed sum sufficient to keep up both organizations.

Congressman Underhill, of Ohio, expressed the popular Northern conception of reconciliation accurately when he said in a recent speech in the House: "If reconciliation comes it must come with an equal recognition in both sides. It must come with justice, with obedience to law and to the sovereignty which the framers of our Constitution proclaimed must be supreme." We will agree that our battered shields shall be hung up side by side as trophies of a common valor, but we will not agree that the dogmas which led to that awful conflict shall be honored and enthroned. We will not agree that loyalty shall seek pardon of treason. We will not agree that the unmatchable defense of our Union shall ever be written down other than as exhercising right. We will not agree that any man in any section of our land shall be denuded of his political rights or ask in vain the shelter of our flag. We will not agree to exalt the perils or sanction the heresies that must endanger if not destroy our majestic possibilities."

—At the Consistory held on Monday the Pope appointed five Cardinal Priests and three Cardinal Deacons. Among the Cardinals are the Rev. Dr. John Henry Newman, of England, and the Rev. Dr. Hezron-rother. The Pope also appointed several prelates for vacant sees. Dr. McCabe has been made Archbishop of Dublin; Dr. Woodlock, Bishop of Ardagh, and Cardinal Hohenlohe, Bishop of Albano. These appointments are of more than ordinary interest. The elevation of the eminent author and divine, John Henry Newman, to the rank of Cardinal has been regarded as certain since February last, when the dignity was offered him. Cardinal Newman is now in Rome. Prior to his departure from England he was presented with a congratulatory address by several Irish members of Parliament. It is understood that two English noblemen have offered to place at his disposal ample means to defray the expense of appointing to his new rank. Cardinal Hohenlohe, who has been made Bishop of Albano, Italy, is a member of an ancient house, which holds princely rank in Bavaria. Dr. McCabe, who succeeds the late Cardinal Cullen as Archbishop of Dublin, was one of the vicars-general in that diocese. He held liberal opinions in politics, and is greatly esteemed by the people. The Rev. Dr. Woodlock, who is made Bishop of Ardagh, is Rector of the Catholic University of Dublin.

—The chief Nihilist organ, which is clandestinely distributed throughout Russia, is entitled Country and Liberty, and claims to hold jurisdiction over everybody. It warns, threatens and parades right and left, and gives prompt and accurate information respecting the carrying out of its sentences, which are those of the revolutionary committee. It is found everywhere. It is laid by unseen hands on the master's table of rich and poor. It appears twice a month, and advertises for subscribers. It mentions the Nihilist pamphlets which have appeared, and informs the public that others bearing this or that title are shortly to be published, the prices of which are given, but the editor contents himself with denigrating the place at which they can be bought as the "well-known house."

On the day after Gen. Semenovitz was murdered the Country and Liberty appeared illustrated with a large cartoon in which the general was represented as lying in state, the first page being occupied with a kind of proclamation giving the reasons which had decided the committee to pronounce sentence of death upon him. Three days after the secret printing offices in St. Petersburg were discovered by the Russian police a man was assassinated at Moscow, but who he was and why he had been murdered remained a mystery till the paper announced that he was a traitor who had been killed for divulging the printing offices.

LOCAL ITEMS.

—Perched upon high, wielding his attitude implement gracefully, the sable white-washer has been seen in many places during the past week.

—There is in pretty general circulation a report that the Langhorne Beacon, the organ of stalwart Republicans, will eventually be removed to Doylestown to become the organ of the party in place of the Intelligencer, which has flinched too often in its partisanship to give satisfaction to the party leaders of the county.

—The entertainment at the Episcopal Chapel on Thursday evening, was quite a brilliant success. There was a good sized audience present although the building was not filled. The young folks who participated in the exercises, performed their parts in an excellent manner, and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves, and none more than the performers.

—The New Jersey fish commissioner seems to keep up an eternal vigilance for violators of the Sunday fishing law. Last Sunday night he captured two more nets and took four fishermen in custody. There is always more or less trouble between the fishermen of New Jersey, and this State, and our fishermen complain that the law is not impartially enforced; and that while they are made to live up to it to the very letter or bear the consequences of violating the statutes, the Jersey fishermen are not molested.

—The School Board has adapted a new set of rules for the government of the schools. "The only change of importance to the public in general is the change in the time of the school hours, which with the commencement of the new school year will be as follows: During the months of May, June and September, from 8.30 to 11.30 A. M. and from 2 to 4 P. M. From October 1st to May 1st, from 9 A. M. to 12 M. and from 2 to 4 P. M. No recess will be given in the afternoon sessions.

—At the Methodist Sunday School last Sunday, the musical exercises received the additional harmony that two violins in skillful hands can furnish. The music seemed of no less a devotional character than heretofore, and the teachers and especially the scholars appeared very much pleased with the new arrangement. That it is a new thing to have violins in the Sunday School, but years ago the Methodists used to sing their hymns to the accompaniment of a big bass viol which was located in the gallery.

—John A. Nicholls whose recommendation as a temperance advocate, are, according to his circulars, that he has lectured in many parts of the country, and crossed the Atlantic five times, delivered a lecture in the Methodist Chapel on Sunday afternoon spoke at the Baptist Church in the evening, and on Tuesday evening lectured in the same Church. He is spoken of as a sympathetic orator, of the Murphy kind, and is very pleasant in his address and manner. His audiences were not very large, owing probably to the fact that his coming was not previously announced.

—At the new school house, last Friday afternoon, Miss Elsie M. Turner's school room was crowded with the children and others who were present, to listen to the recitations, singing and orations by the pupils. A tableau had been arranged for the occasion, but unfortunately the chief figure in it failed to put in an appearance, and it had to be dispensed with. The proceeds amounted to enough to answer the purpose for which the entertainment was gotten up, and whoever visits the school will see by the pictures upon the walls and other decorations and improvements to what objects the money was devoted.

—An illustrious follower of Mahomet, a native of Turkey, arrayed in a costume, not oriental in its magnificence, but instead rather dingy and worn; his appearance looking very much like the pictures of the great Turks which sometimes decorate cigar boxes, visited most of the places of business on Tuesday, trying to dispose of articles he called "emulsi," which we thought meant omelets, and finally found we emulsi, having a fragrance like anything but the spices of the Indies. He found no buyers for his goods, and evidently thought the land of the Christians no better than it should be.

—The only country in Europe where Good Friday is not a legal holiday is France.

—Throughout Northampton county, many farmers were compelled to replant their oats on account of cold and frost.

A woman, recently married in the north of England, was nineteen years old, and the thirty-seventh child of her father by his fifth wife.

—It is proposed in the oil regions of this State to invite the Marquis de Lorne and the Princess Louise to make a tour of that territory.

It is announced that the Princess Beatrice having visited Leonardo's immortal fresco of the Last Supper, in Milan, was "much impressed by it."

—The largest weekly arrival of fresh meat in Liverpool from the United States and Canada was that for the week ending April 12. The totals were 6,507 quarters of beef, 2,238 carcasses of mutton and 223 dead pigs.

It is said that the growth of Roman Catholicism in the United States has induced the Pope to arrange a complete organization of the hierarchy and a more intimate union with Rome. New Bishops will soon be created, and the establishments of the Society of Jesus will be more carefully organized.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12, 1879.
EDITOR GAZETTE:—A large audience recently filled Lincoln Hall in advocacy of the colored man's migration from the South. Col. Bob. Ingersoll sent $100, and a letter stating that he would have been present and spoke for the fact that the proprietors of the Hall had denied him "the right to speak within its secret walls." Notwithstanding the advocacy of this scheme by our ablest men, we see no reason for changing our recently expressed views, that the proper place for the colored man is in the South. Climate, and other incidents are in his favor there and any exodus which does not carry with it means of support for a year at least, is to be deprecated. It is possible that more right to vote is a privilege paramount to undisturbed right to accumulate and enjoy property. But it is true, without exception, in the South that wherever a colored man pursues a negative political walk in life his social status is as high and his right to protection for himself, family and property as anywhere in the west. Away down in the cotton fields of Alabama near the Gulf we have seen him growing rich and enjoying every privilege that his white neighbor had. But he kept himself aloof from politics. The only question before him is, shall more right to vote be paramount to peace and well do to him? We do not favor the slightest emigration upon any man's right to vote, but the fact exists that the colored man is not permitted the freest motion in regard to voting in many southern precincts and the query naturally arises, is it not better this indirect disfranchisement should be left to the healing influences of time since every other right is guaranteed rather than to transport him to an inhospitable climate with the consequent hardships?

The Post Office Department has created quite a commotion among certain newspaper men by barring their publications from the mails at reduced rates of postage on the ground of being advertising sheets under the law. These rulings are of course resisted by those aggrieved and rightfully too we think, for no official has a right to utter a discriminating judgement which says that one paper of a certain class, if makes plenty of money for its publishers has governmental privileges which a less pecuniarily favored journal has not. Such has been the recent decision of the Postmaster General and the decision he renders such an unjust and inequitable ruling, the better for what is fair and commendable.

Just think of a "Highly Colored Opera" in our midst. Mr. Ford the manager of the National Theatre has brought out "Pinafore" with a full troupe of colored performers and they are making a decided success of the venue by their superior singing and acting. None of the "Pinafores" by the several different white troupes performing it here have surpassed this one by the colored professionals in general merit of voice and action.

About forty young ladies from the Hagers-town High School, visited this city recently and surprised the President with a call. He was however perfectly composed after his recovery of meeting so many young ladies, at one time. He is accustomed to meeting a great many at receptions but they are never around him, and besides, old, pious, married and divorced ones are nothing to be compared to a host of young, beautiful bright school girls, whose eyes look through you, and whose very coyness and innocence speak volumes. —The Klatannay, the little steamer which is to run on the Delaware between the Water Gap and Port Jarvis, and the first that ever ascended above Easton, went up the river last week to its destination. It was built at Bristol, R. I., which is left on Thursday, May 1, at 2 p. m., and was at New Haven the next night at 7.30. The boat reached New York on Saturday and New Brunswick via Baritan river on Monday. Left there Tuesday at 9, and went to Trenton via Baritan canal, then through the feeder at Lambertville, where it arrived Tuesday night, and passed into the river. It left Lambertville Wednesday morning, and steamed up to Frohntown, which it left at 1.40; passed Milford at 3.30, and landed at Upper Black's Eddy at 2.35, passed Reigelsville at 4.05, Carpentersville at 4.32, and landed at Easton at 5.40, having made the trip from Frohntown to Easton in four hours. It came up the river in fine style and rode up the fall below the railroad bridge like a swan. The boat was moored Wednesday evening at the foot of Church street, in the Delaware. Thursday morning she went on her course up the river, leaving at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the Portland stage driver conversed with the passengers at Sand's Eddy, five miles up the river. It reached foot lift between 11 and 12. The boat made an average of 10 miles an hour in the sound coming from Bristol in a heavy sea. It went up the falls at the island at Barcon in a very pretty manner. Mr. J. D. Brodhead is the captain, and his cousin, H. Brodhead, is the engineer. They took a number of passengers along up the river. All along the route the little steamer attracts considerable attention, and no doubt will cause considerable more when it begins to run to Port Jarvis from the Gap. The boat is about 60 feet long by 20 wide, and will carry 100 passengers. It cost $3,000.

—The experiment of homes for inebriates is to be tried in England under the sanction of an act of Parliament. Inebriates, according to the provisions of the statute, may determine for themselves whether they will enter the "retreat" or not; but having admitted before a Justice of the Peace their wish to be committed, they will no longer be free agents, but must stay out the time for which they have bound themselves, and conform to all the regulations of the establishment. The result there will probably be about what it has been here; a few will be reclaimed; more will remain as they were; a great deal of good will be done, in one way or another, but not so much as the enthusiastic will anticipate.

"I DON'T WANT THAT STUFF,"—Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.
